International Women's Day

#BreakTheBias

International Women's Day is a worldwide celebration of women, showing what they have done to make the world a better place. It is also a celebration of young girls and the little things that they can do to make a difference.

International Women's Day this year will be celebrated on March 8th.

Her Excellency Paula-Mae Weekes-
President of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago

Making a difference

Women have traditionally been mothers, taking care of the children and the home. Today women and girls continue to make a difference in the world. Let us look at a few of them.

Mrs. Shivana Singh-Ramharack is a lawyer and helps people when they go to court.

Mrs. Kelsey Toussaint-Reid is an engineer and ensures that the roads of Tobago are safe for people to travel.

Girls visiting Nursing Homes to give out hampers and chat with the elderly.

Women and girls face bias or unfair and unequal treatment many times.

Some men and boys see women and girls as weak and not able to do the things that they can do. They are treated unfairly because of this. Women and girls should not be treated this way.

We can treat women and girls fairly and equally by:

Including them when playing

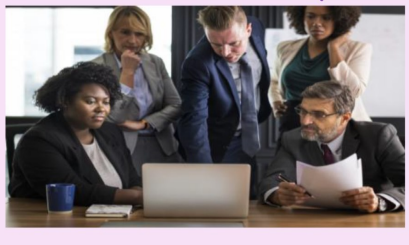

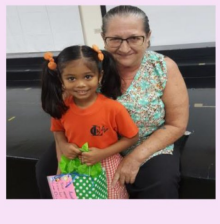

Working together with them at home, at school and at the workplace

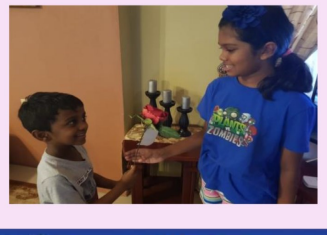

Showing appreciation to the women and girls in our lives by doing something nice for them

Making an Object Chart

An object chart is made using real objects.

The objects are arranged to show information.

Tony wanted to enter an insect competition. His family helped him to collect insects from around the house. He sorted the insects and created an object chart.
This is a picture of the object chart he made.

My Insect Collection

1. How many ants  does Tony have?
2. Circle the two insects that are the same in number.

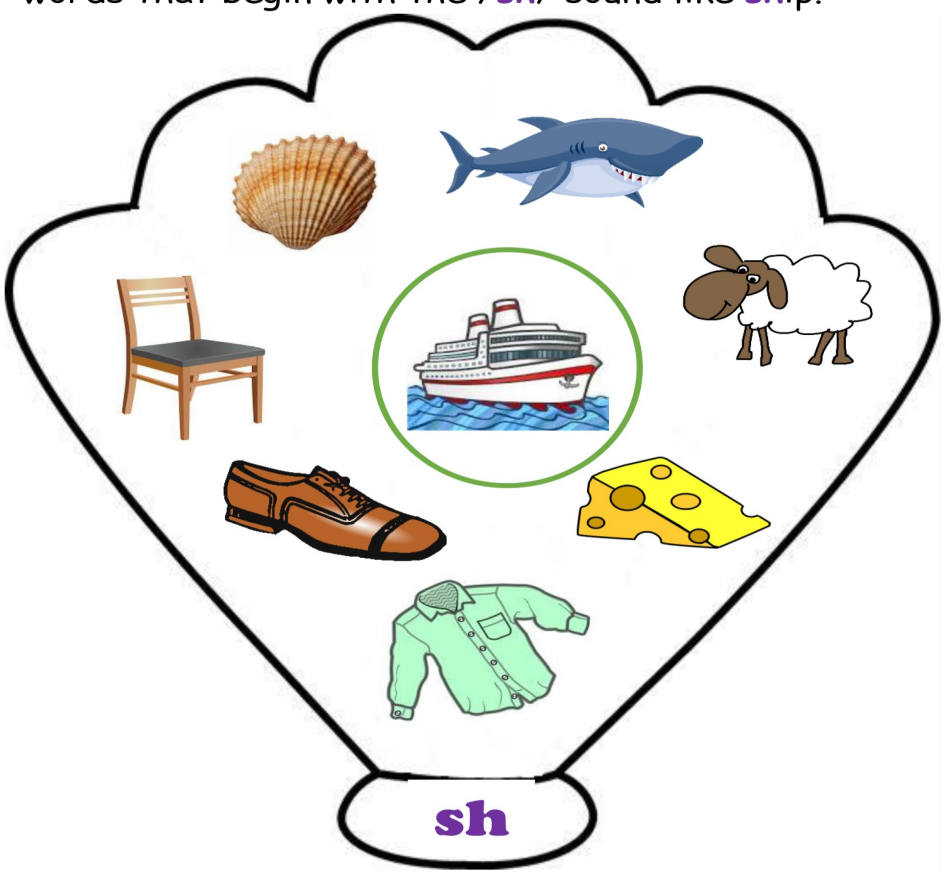

3. How many more ants  does Tony have than bees  ?
4. How many insects does Tony have altogether?
5. Tony needs to have 10 insects to enter the competition. Can he enter the competition? Explain your answer.

Now, have fun creating your own Insect Object Chart.
Remember, let an adult help you.

International Women's Day

Celebrating International Women's Day

This year, as we celebrate the day, let us find ways to honour and show appreciation for the women and girls in our lives.

Offer to assist in the home.

Show appreciation by celebrating the women in our lives.

Corporate with our teachers by:

-Paying attention in class and following instructions

-Completing and submitting all assignments

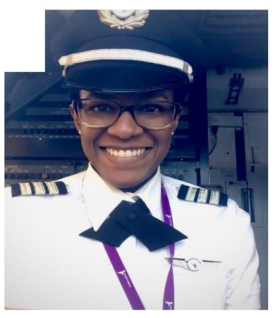

Other women in society who are making a difference.

Cherisse Pierre is a pilot for Caribbean.

Women of Feminitt Caribbean- Safe Cycle Care Bank

Karishma Ramharack- TT off-spinner in ICC Women's Cricket World Cup 2022

Women and girls make a difference in the world. Girls must understand that as young as they are, they have a purpose and can contribute to making the place around us better. We cannot survive without women and girls in our lives. Let us treat them fairly and show appreciation for all that they do now and will do for us in the future.

Let us do the IWD 2022 #BreakTheBias pose

The International Women's Day committee has developed the following pose to celebrate the day. Can you pose like the people in the photographs below?
