

The Accessibility of Information

Introduction: The media gathers information and spreads it to its consumers. As we go further into the 21st century, with all the technological advances, access to information has become very easy.

Did you know that information is WAY more accessible now than 30 years ago??

Today Google processes 40,000 searches per second!!!

What is Provision of Information?

According to IGI Global (2017) it is the ease, convenience and opportunity to locate information. The mass media communicates information through written and broadcasted mediums. These include the television, radio, internet, magazines, newspaper, movies among others.

Below is a video on the rights to access information
