Graphics

Introduction:

Graphics are an effective way of presenting data. These usually include graphs and charts. They enhance the presentation, summarise large data collected and engage anyone that will have access to the presentation.

Did you know?

Using graphics in data presentation makes reading the data more attractive and easy.

There are some some advantages and disadvantages for using graphics in data presentation. To read on some of these Click Here.

http://www.businesscommunicationarticles.com/advantages-and-disadvantages-of-graphical-representation-of-data/

 The SlideShare below provides examples of graphic presentation and outline their uses.

https://www.slideshare.net/jijokuzhuppil/graphical-representation-of-data?ref=https://notesmaster.com/en/group/caribbean/1556-cape-covid19-support/25540-presentation-of-data-graphics