

Changes in Rural Settlements in MDC

Introduction: More Developed Countries or MDCs have both rural and urban settlements. It must also be noted though that the population in some rural areas is increasing, while the population in some remote locations in rural areas are decreasing (rural depopulation).